

Faster Access to Neuropsychological Assessments for Families

Parents routinely wait more than six months for their child to get the required neuropsychological assessments for formal diagnosis and school district support services. Spring Health helps families access specialized support for their child in weeks—not months or years—through our Spring-Certified Partner Network.

Evidence-Based Assessments

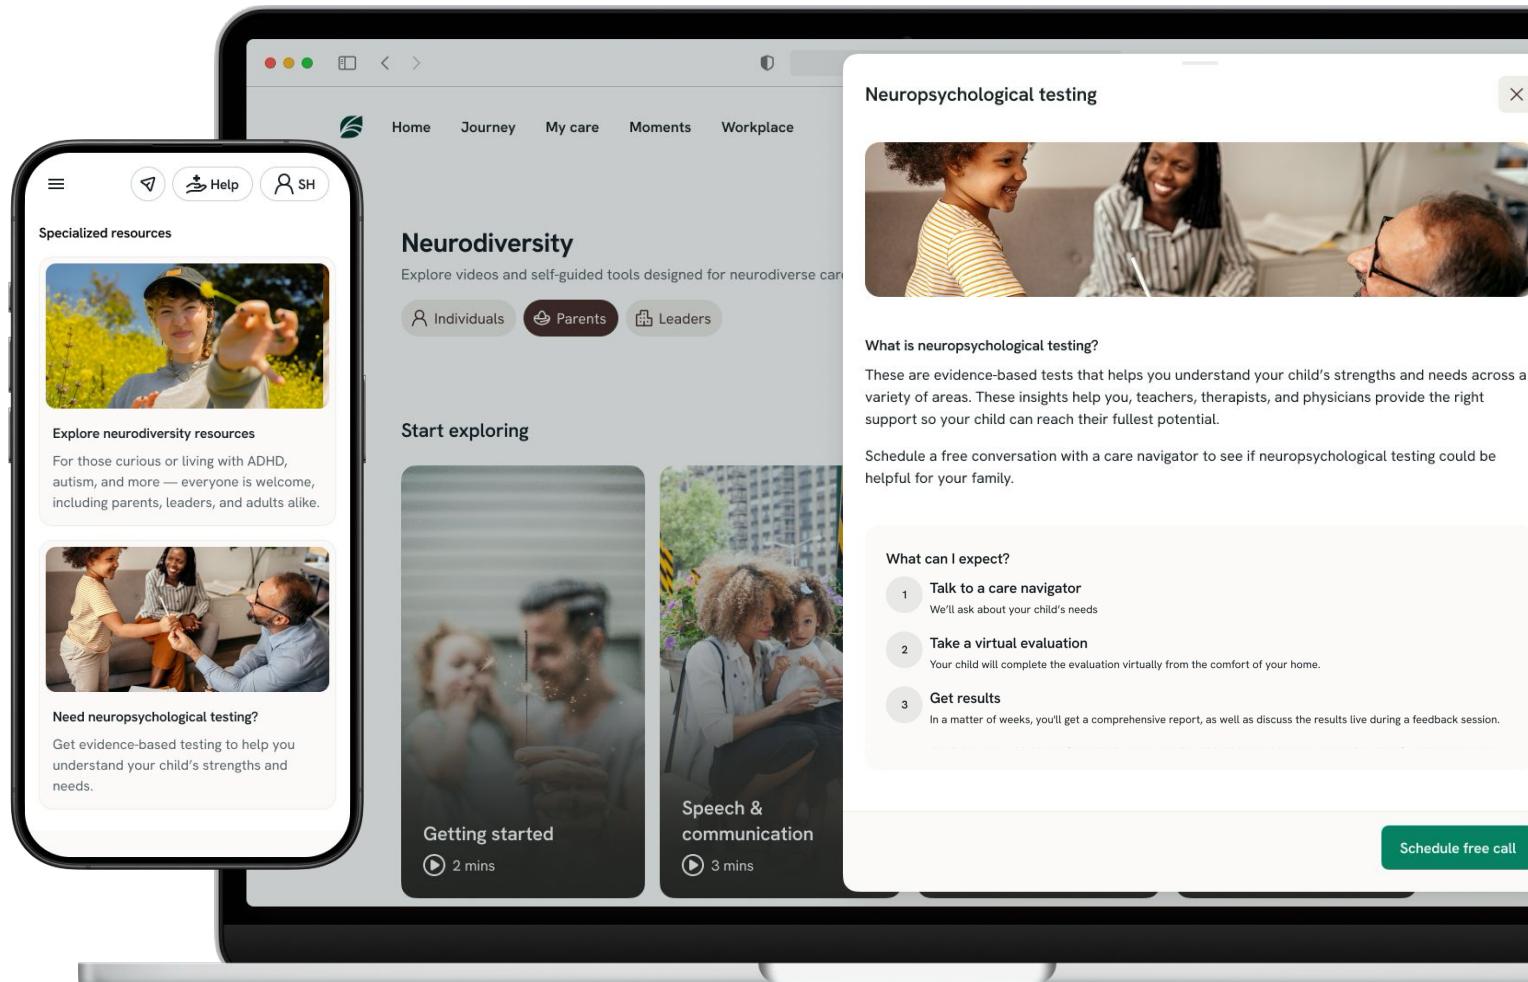

Nationwide virtual pediatric and adolescent neuropsychological assessments for common neurodiverse conditions, incl. learning disabilities, ADHD, autism spectrum disorders, and traumatic brain injury.

Expert Support at Every Step

Specialty Care Navigators (SCNs) are licensed therapists with expertise in neurodivergent conditions. SCNs deliver triage assessments, clarify diagnoses, coach parents on advocating for dependents, connect families to the right providers, and help parents find other in-network care like speech therapy.

How it Works for Your Members

- ✓ Triage with Specialty Care Navigator (SCN)
- ✓ Neuropsychological Assessment, which can be 10-15 hours and is conducted over multiple sessions to fit the child's needs
- ✓ Review Results with the therapist, who helps families recommend the best learning environment and treatment approach for their child
- ✓ Ongoing Support from the SCN, who provides coaching and guidance on a wide range of support services, incl. counseling for individuals and families
